FOREWORD

A note from the Chief Executive of the Northern Ireland Statistics & Research Agency

NISRA is an organisation of nearly 400 specialists including statisticians, analysts, social researchers, economists and ICT technicians and 120 administrative staff. We work across all Government Departments and many other public bodies. We record births, deaths and marriages and carry out all of the major household and business surveys in Northern Ireland including the Census of Population. Whether the issue be one of health, education, transport or the labour market, we have teams conducting statistical analysis and social research in those areas.

Government at every level needs to justify public expenditure and NISRA provides much of the evidence necessary for the formulation, development and evaluation of effective public policy. Our information base is vast and our activities span data collection, analysis, interpretation and commentary. Despite the inherent challenges of producing and qualifying such information, it is our job to ensure the supply of high quality, timely information to the public as well key decision makers.

We are looking for people who can lead in the field of government data collection, analysis and interpretation; are committed to enabling our economic advancement; who want to help inform public policy making and help shape the public debate.

If you are such a person who can demonstrate that a career in official statistics or research is your passion we would very much like to hear from you.

Siobhan Carey
Chief Executive

BACKGROUND

About the Northern Ireland Statistics and Research Agency (NISRA)

The Northern Ireland Statistics and Research Agency is an Executive Agency of the Department of Finance (DoF).

NISRA provides statistics, research and registration services and is responsible for taking the Census of Population.

NISRA's core purpose is:

Around 520 staff work in NISRA along with approximately 300 field staff. NICS COMPETENCY FRAMEWORK

The NICS competency framework sets out how all NICS employees should work. The Northern Ireland Civil Service competency framework can be accessed via www.nicsrecruitment.org.uk

GUIDANCE FOR APPLICANTS

INTERVIEW PREPARATION

If this is your first experience of a competence-based interview, bear in mind that it does not require you to:

- Talk through previous jobs or appointments from start to finish;
- Provide generalised information as to your background and experience; or
- Provide information that is not specifically relevant to the competence the question is designed to test.

A competence-based interview does however require you to:

- Focus exclusively, in your responses, on your ability to fulfill the competences required for effective performance in the role; and
- Provide specific examples of your experience in relation to the required competence areas.

In preparation for the interview you may wish to think about having a clear structure for each of your examples, such as:

- Situation – briefly outline the situation;
- Task – what was your objective, what were you trying to achieve;
- Action – what did you actually do, what was your unique contribution;
- Result – what happened, what was the outcome, what did you learn.

The panel will ask you to provide specific examples from your past experience to demonstrate the range of behaviours associated with the competences being assessed. You should therefore come to the interview prepared to discuss in detail a range of examples which best illustrate your skills and abilities in each competence area. You may draw examples from any area of your work / life experiences.

For professional and technical posts, questions may be framed in the context of professional elements of the post.
