Equality Scheme

Drawn up in accordance with Section 75 and Schedule 9 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998.

This document is available in a range of formats on request.

February 2023

Foreword

Section 75 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998 (the Act) requires public authorities, in carrying out their functions relating to Northern Ireland, to have due regard to the need to promote equality of opportunity and regard to the desirability of promoting good relations across a range of categories outlined in the Act.

In its equality scheme, the Department of Finance and its Agencies (herein after called the Department) sets out how it proposes to fulfil the Section 75 statutory duties. This version of the equality scheme reflects our statutory 5-year review of the Department's original 2011 equality scheme. A further review of the scheme will be completed no later than 2027. It has been drawn up in accordance with Section 75 and Schedule 9 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998 and Equality Commission guidelines.

We will commit the necessary resources in terms of people, time and money to ensure the Section 75 statutory duties are complied with and this equality scheme is implemented effectively, and on time.

We commit to having effective internal arrangements in place for ensuring our compliance with the Section 75 statutory duties and for monitoring and reviewing our progress.

We will develop and deliver a programme of communication and training with the aim of ensuring that all our staff and Departmental Board members are made fully aware of this equality scheme and understand the commitments and obligations within it.

We are fully committed to effectively fulfilling the Section 75 statutory duties across all our functions through the effective implementation of this equality scheme.

We realise the important role the community and voluntary sector, and the general public have to play to ensure the Section 75 statutory duties are effectively implemented. This equality scheme demonstrates how the Department will ensure there are opportunities, for people affected by its work, to positively influence how it carry out its functions in line with the Section 75 statutory duties. It also offers the means whereby persons directly affected by what they consider to be a failure on the Department's part to comply with this equality scheme can make complaints.

Chapter 1 Introduction

Section 75 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998

- 1.1 Section 75 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998 (the Act) requires the Department to comply with two statutory duties:

Section 75(1)

In carrying out its functions relating to Northern Ireland, the Department is required to have due regard to the need to promote equality of opportunity between:

- persons of different religious belief, political opinion, racial group, age, marital status or sexual orientation;
- men and women generally;
- persons with a disability and persons without; and
- persons with dependants and persons without.

Section 75(2)

In addition, without prejudice to the obligations above, in carrying out its functions in relation to Northern Ireland, the Department is required to have regard to the desirability of promoting good relations between persons of different religious belief, political opinion or racial group.

“Functions” include the “powers and duties” of a public authority¹. This includes the Department’s employment and procurement functions, and the planning and management of public expenditure in Northern Ireland.

How the Department proposes to fulfil the Section 75 duties in relation to its relevant functions.

- 1.2 Schedule 9 para 4(1) of the Act requires the Department as a designated public authority to set out in an equality scheme how it proposes to fulfil the duties imposed by Section 75 in relation to its relevant functions. This equality scheme is intended to fulfil that statutory requirement, stating the Department’s arrangements for fulfilling the Section 75 statutory duties.
- 1.3 The Department is committed to the discharge of its Section 75 obligations in all parts of the organisation and will commit the necessary available resources in terms of people, time and money to ensure the Section 75 statutory duties are complied with and the equality scheme can be implemented effectively.

Functions of the Department of Finance

- 1.4 The Department and its Agencies are responsible for:

- managing the public expenditure of Northern Ireland (NI) Departments, including supporting the Minister and Executive in the allocation of funding available from HM Treasury;
- providing Human Resource (HR) services and policies to support the management of the Northern Ireland Civil Service (NICS) workforce;
- providing a range of corporate services to NI Departments, including HR, finance and accounting, Information, Communication and Technology (ICT), accommodation and estate management;
- providing legal, statistical, procurement, valuation and property services, and support to NI Departments and the wider public sector; and
- improving access to public services and information through the NI Direct programme

1.5 The work of individual business areas in support of this remit can be found in the audit of inequalities. The document, which has been used to form the basis of the Department's Action Plan, can be accessed via the following link <https://www.finance-ni.gov.uk/dof-departmental-equality-scheme>.

Chapter 2 Arrangements for assessing compliance with the section 75 duties

(Schedule 9 para 4(2)(a))

- 2.1 Some of the arrangements for assessing compliance with the Section 75 statutory duties are outlined later in this equality scheme, for example, monitoring arrangements, assessment of impact of policies arrangements, consultation, publication, complaints etc. The Department uses the following arrangements as a broad framework for assessing compliance.

Responsibilities and reporting

- 2.2 The Permanent Secretary is responsible for providing Progress Reports to the Equality Commission for Northern Ireland (ECNI). To assist with this, the Department has a network of staff who advise and report on equality matters in each business area of the Department. A Strategic Equality Branch provides advice, guidance and support to business areas on all aspects of equality and to oversee the screening processes undertaken to ensure consistency of approach throughout the Department and compliance with the statutory duties.
- 2.3 We are committed to the fulfilment of our Section 75 obligations in all parts of our work. Through the Strategic Equality Branch, close liaisons are maintained with other NICS Departments, Section 75 representative groups and the Voluntary and Community Sector. In addition, appropriate departmental contributions are made to all relevant cross departmental working groups in the furtherance of the equality agenda. The Department is also represented on the Equality Practitioners Group, chaired by The Executive Office (TEO).
- 2.4 Biannual updates are provided to the Departmental Board by the Strategic Equality Branch. These updates inform the Board both of progress by the Department and any latest developments in the wider field of equality. Ad hoc updates and reports are also provided as and when appropriate. The Departmental Annual report includes a section on equality.
- 2.5 Directors in each business area are responsible for implementing this Equality Scheme within their areas of responsibility and for providing assurance to the Departmental Board that they are complying with the Section 75 obligations as laid down in the Scheme. When new policies are being introduced or where existing policies are being revised, the Director is responsible for ensuring that papers submitted to the Departmental Board and the Minister reflect the equality obligations and, where appropriate, specify the position in relation to the conduct of any equality impact assessment.
- 2.6 Objectives and targets relating to the statutory duties will be integrated into our strategic and operational business plans.

- 2.7 Employees' job descriptions and performance plans will reflect their contributions to the discharge of the Section 75 statutory duties and implementation of the equality scheme where relevant. Personal performance plans are subject to appraisal in the annual performance review.
- 2.8 Overall responsibility for the effective implementation of the equality scheme lies with the Finance and Corporate Services Director. The Director is accountable to the Minister and Permanent Secretary for the development, implementation, maintenance and review of the equality scheme in accordance with Section 75 and Schedule 9 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998, including any good practice or guidance that has been, or may be, issued by the Equality Commission. The Permanent Secretary, as the appointed Accounting Officer for the Department, has a personal responsibility for compliance with Section 75.

- 2.10 Upon request by ECNI, we will prepare a report on the progress made on implementing the arrangements set out in our equality scheme to discharge its Section 75 statutory duties. The reports will be submitted to ECNI within their requested timeframe.
- 2.11 Section 75 progress reports are available on the Departmental website: <https://www.finance-ni.gov.uk/publications/annual-report-equality-commission> or by contacting the Strategic Equality Branch as above.
- 2.12 We will liaise closely with ECNI to ensure that progress on the implementation of our equality scheme is maintained.

Action plan/action measures

- 2.13 In addition to this Equality Scheme, we have developed an action plan to promote equality of opportunity and good relations. The current action plan² can be accessed via <https://www.finance-ni.gov.uk/dof-departmental-equality-scheme>.

² Covers the period 2018-2023. A plan covering the following 5-year period will be developed in 2023.

- 2.14 The action plan does not form part of the equality scheme.
- 2.15 The action plan is relevant to our functions. It has been developed and prioritised on the basis of an audit of inequalities. The audit of inequalities gathered and analysed information across the Section 75 categories³ to identify the inequalities that exist for service users and those affected by the Department's policies⁴. The audit documentation can be accessed via <https://www.finance-ni.gov.uk/dof-departmental-equality-scheme>.
- 2.16 The Plan includes actions, measures, outcomes and timescales for their achievement. (The word "measures" has been used in place of ECNI's suggestion of "performance indicators").
- 2.17 We have developed our action plan to align with corporate, business and budget planning cycles. Implementation of the action plan will be incorporated into the business planning process. This plan will be amended when appropriate to reflect additional actions proposed or required.
- 2.18 We will regularly review the plan, seeking input from our stakeholders and consulting as appropriate, before sending to the ECNI when required.
- 2.19 We will monitor progress on the delivery of our plan and update as necessary to ensure it remains effective and relevant to our functions and work.
- 2.20 We will inform the ECNI of any changes or amendments to our action plan and will also include this information in any Section 75 progress reports to them. A Section 75 progress report will incorporate information on progress that has been made in implementing the action plan.

³ See section 1.1 of this equality scheme for a list of these categories.

⁴ See section 4.1 of this equality scheme for a definition of policies.

Chapter 3 Arrangements for consulting

(Schedule 9 para 4(2)(a)) - on matters to which a duty (S75 (1) or (2)) is likely to be relevant (including details of the persons to be consulted).

(Schedule 9 para 4(2)(b)) on the likely impact of policies adopted or proposed to be adopted by us on the promotion of equality of opportunity.

- 3.1 We recognise the importance of consultation in all aspects of the implementation of the statutory equality duties. We consult on our equality scheme, action plan, equality screenings and impact assessments, and other matters relevant to the Section 75 statutory duties.
- 3.2 We are committed to carrying out consultation in accordance with the following principles (as contained in the Equality Commission's guidance 'Section 75 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998 – A Guide for Public Authorities (April 2010)')
- Consultations will seek the views of those directly affected by the matter/policy, ECNI, representative groups of Section 75 categories, other public authorities, voluntary and community groups, staff and their trades unions, and such other groups who have a legitimate interest in the matter, as appropriate.
 - To ensure the most effective use of the Department's and its consultees' resources, we will take a targeted approach to consultation for those consultees that may have a particular interest in the matter/policy being consulted upon and to whom the matter/policy is of particular relevance. This may include, for example, regional or local consultations, sectoral or thematic consultation etc.
 - Consultation with all stakeholders will begin as early as possible. We will engage with affected individuals and representative groups to identify how best to consult or engage with them. Consultees will be asked what their preferred consultation methods are and consideration will be given to these.
 - We will consider the accessibility and format of every method of consultation we use in order to remove barriers to the consultation process. Specific consideration will be given as to how best to communicate with children and young people, people with disabilities (in particular people with learning disabilities) and minority ethnic communities, where appropriate. We will take account of existing and developing good practice, including the Equality Commission's guidance Let's Talk Let's Listen – Guidance for public authorities on consulting and involving children and young people (2008).
 - Information will be made available, on request, in alternative formats⁵, in a timely manner, usually within 3 weeks. We will seek to ensure that such consultees have sufficient time to respond.

⁵ See Chapter 6 for further information on alternative formats of information we provide.

- Specific training is available to those facilitating consultations to ensure they have the necessary skills to communicate effectively with consultees.
- Any consultation period will normally last for a minimum of twelve weeks to allow adequate time for groups to consult amongst themselves as part of the process of forming a view. However, in exceptional circumstances when this timescale is not feasible (for example implementing EU Directives or UK wide legislation, meeting Health and Safety requirements, addressing urgent public health or strategic public expenditure matters or complying with Court judgements), the timescale may be shortened to eight weeks or less before the policy is implemented. We may continue consultation thereafter and will take account of comments as part of our monitoring commitments⁶.
- Where, under these exceptional circumstances, we must implement a policy immediately, as it is beyond our authority's control, we may consult after implementation of the policy, in order to ensure that any impacts of the policy are considered.
- If a consultation exercise is to take place over a period when consultees are less able to respond, for example, over the summer or Christmas break, or if the policy under consideration is particularly complex, consideration will be given to the feasibility of allowing a longer period for the consultation.
- We are conscious of the fact that affected individuals and representative groups may have different needs. We will take appropriate measures to ensure full participation in any meetings that are held. We will consider for example the time of day, the appropriateness of the venue, in particular whether it can be accessed by those with disabilities, how the meeting is to be conducted, the use of appropriate language, whether a signer and/or interpreter is necessary.
- We will make all relevant information available to consultees in appropriate formats to ensure meaningful consultation. This includes detailed information on the policy proposal being consulted upon and any relevant quantitative and qualitative data.
- In making any decision with respect to a policy adopted or proposed to be adopted, we will take into account any assessment and consultation carried out in relation to the policy.
- We will provide feedback to consultees in a timely manner. A feedback report will be prepared which includes summary information on the policy consulted upon, a summary of consultees' comments and a summary of the consideration of and response to consultees' input. The feedback will be provided in formats suitable to consultees.

⁶ Please see below at 4.21 to 4.27 for details on monitoring.

- 3.3 A list of those Section 75 groups who have asked to be included in our consultations is included at Appendix 3. It can also be obtained from our website at <http://www.dfpni.gov.uk/departmental-equality-scheme.htm> or by contacting Strategic Equality Branch.
- 3.4 This consultation list is not exhaustive and is reviewed on a regular basis to ensure it remains relevant to our functions and policies.

We welcome enquiries from any person/s or organisations wishing to be added to the list of consultees. Please contact the Strategic Equality Branch to provide your contact details and have your areas of interest noted or have your name/details removed or amended. Please also inform us at this stage if you would like information sent to you in a particular format or language.

Chapter 4 Arrangements for assessing, monitoring and publishing the impact of policies

(Schedule 9 para 4(2)(b); Schedule 9 para 4(2)(c); Schedule 9 para 4(2)(d); Schedule 9 para 9(1); Schedule 9 para 9(2))

Arrangements for assessing the likely impact of policies adopted or proposed to be adopted on the promotion of equality of opportunity (Schedule 9 para 4(2)(b))

4.1 In the context of Section 75, 'policy' is very broadly defined and covers all the ways in which we carry out, or propose to carry out, our functions in relation to Northern Ireland.

In respect of this equality scheme, the term policy is used for any (proposed/amended/existing) strategy, policy initiative or practice and/or decision, whether written or unwritten and irrespective of the label given to it, e.g. 'draft', 'pilot', 'high level' or 'sectoral'.

4.2 In making any decision with respect to a policy adopted or proposed to be adopted, we will take into account any assessment and consultation carried out in relation to the policy, as required by Schedule 9 para 9(2) of the Northern Ireland Act 1998.

4.3 We use the tools of screening and equality impact assessment to assess the likely impact of a policy on the promotion of equality of opportunity and good relations. In carrying out these assessments, we will relate them to the intended outcomes of the policy in question and will also follow ECNI guidance, including on:

- screening, including the screening template, as detailed in the ECNI guidance 'Section 75 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998 – A Guide for Public Authorities (April 2010)'; and
- undertaking an equality impact assessment, as detailed in the ECNI guidance 'Practical guidance on equality impact assessment (February 2005)'.

Screening

4.4 The purpose of screening is to identify those policies that are likely to have an impact on equality of opportunity and/or good relations.

4.5 Screening is completed at the earliest opportunity in the policy development/review process, including when a business case/economic appraisal is being developed. Policies which we propose to adopt will be subject to screening prior to implementation. For more detailed strategies or policies that are to be put in place through a series of stages, screening will take place at appropriate stages during implementation.

4.6 The lead role in the screening of a policy is taken by the policy decision maker who has the authority to make changes to that policy, however, screening will also involve other relevant team members, for example, equality specialists, those who implement the policy and staff members from other relevant work areas. Where possible, key stakeholders will be included in the screening process.

4.7 The following questions are applied to all our policies as part of the screening process:

- What is the likely impact on equality of opportunity for those affected by this policy, for each of the Section 75 equality categories? (minor/major/none)
- Are there opportunities to better promote equality of opportunity for people within the Section 75 equality categories?
- What extent is the policy likely to impact on good relations between people of a different religious belief, political opinion or racial group? (minor/major/none)
- Are there opportunities to better promote good relations between people of a different religious belief, political opinion or racial group?
- Is there an opportunity to better promote positive attitudes towards people with disabilities by altering the policy or working with others in government or the wider community?

4.8 In order to answer the screening questions, we gather relevant information and data, both qualitative and quantitative. In taking this evidence into account, we consider the different needs, experiences and priorities for each of the Section 75 equality categories. Any screening decision will be informed by this evidence.

4.9 Completion of screening, taking into account consideration of the answers to all screening questions set out in 4.7 above, will lead to one of the following three outcomes:

1. the policy has been 'screened in' for equality impact assessment;
2. the policy has been 'screened out' with mitigation⁷ or an alternative policy proposed to be adopted; or
3. the policy has been 'screened out' without mitigation or an alternative policy proposed to be adopted

4.10 If screening concludes the likely impact of a policy is 'minor' in respect of one, or more, of the equality of opportunity and/or good relations categories, we may on occasion decide to proceed with an equality impact assessment, depending on the policy. If an EQIA is not to be conducted, we will nonetheless consider measures that might mitigate the policy impact as well as alternative policies that might better achieve the promotion of equality of opportunity and/or good relations.

⁷ Mitigation – Where an assessment (screening in this case) reveals that a particular policy has an adverse impact on equality of opportunity, a public authority must consider ways of delivering the policy outcomes which have a less adverse effect on the relevant Section 75 categories.

Where we mitigate, we will outline in the screening template the reasons to support this decision together with the proposed changes, amendments or alternative policy. This screening decision will be 'signed off' by the appropriate policy lead within the Department.

- 4.11 If screening concludes that the likely impact of a policy is 'major' in respect of one, or more, of the equality of opportunity and/or good relations categories, we will normally subject the policy to an equality impact assessment. This screening decision will be 'signed off' by the appropriate policy lead within the Department.
- 4.12 If screening concludes that the likely impact of a policy is 'none', in respect of all of the equality of opportunity and/or good relations categories, we may decide to screen the policy out. If a policy is 'screened out' as having no relevance to equality of opportunity and/or good relations, details of the reasons for the decision taken will be given. This screening decision will be 'signed off' by the appropriate policy lead within the Department.
- 4.13 As soon as possible following the completion of the screening process, the screening template, signed off and approved by the senior manager responsible for the policy, will be made available for consultation on our website www.finance-ni.gov.uk, on our intranet site and on request from Strategic Equality Branch.
- 4.14 In addition, we will advise our consultees via e.mail of any screening processes as soon as possible after their completion.
- 4.15 If a consultee, including ECNI, raises a concern about a screening decision based on supporting evidence, we will review the screening decision.

Equality impact assessment

- 4.16 An equality impact assessment (EQIA) is a thorough and systematic analysis of a policy, whether that policy is formal or informal, and irrespective of the scope of that policy. The primary function of an EQIA is to determine the extent of any impact of a policy upon the Section 75 categories and to determine if the impact is an adverse one. It is also an opportunity to demonstrate the likely positive outcomes of a policy and to seek ways to more effectively promote equality of opportunity and good relations.
- 4.17 Once a policy is screened and screening has identified that an equality impact assessment is necessary, we will carry out the EQIA in accordance with ECNI guidance. The equality impact assessment will be carried out as part of the policy development process, before the policy is implemented.
- 4.18 Any equality impact assessment will be subject to consultation at the appropriate stage(s). (For details see above Chapter 3 "Arrangements for Consulting").

Arrangements for publishing the results of the assessments of the likely impact of policies adopted or propose to adopt on the promotion of equality of opportunity
(Schedule 9 para 4(2)(d); Schedule 9 para 9(1))

4.19 We will make publicly available the results of our assessments (screening and EQIA) of the likely impact of policies on the promotion of equality of opportunity and good relations.

Publications

- Where applicable, a timetable for conducting equality impact assessments;
- A link to the completed screening template(s) on the our website;
- Progress reports;
- Screening templates; and
- Equality impact assessments

EQIA reports are published once the impact assessment has been completed. These reports include:

- A statement of the aim of the policy assessed;
- Information and data collected;
- Details of the assessment of impact(s);
- Consideration given to measures which might mitigate any adverse impact;
- Consideration given to alternative policies which might better achieve the promotion of equality of opportunity;
- Consultation responses;
- The decision taken; and
- Future monitoring plans.

All of the above are available on our website www.finance-ni.gov.uk or by contacting the Strategic Equality Branch.

4.20 All information we publish is accessible and can be made available in alternative formats on request. Please see 6.3 below.

4.21 We are committed to achieving effective communication with the public. Recognising the growing range of communications channels and the differing needs and preferences of different groups, we will use of a range of communications channels to enable wide access to information, to mitigate the risk that some sections of the public might not enjoy equality of opportunity in accessing our information.

Arrangements for monitoring any adverse impact of policies on equality of opportunity
(Schedule 9 para 4(2)(c))

4.22 Monitoring can assist better delivery of public services and continuous improvements. Monitoring Section 75 information involves the processing of sensitive personal data (data relating to the racial or ethnic origin of individuals, sexual orientation, political opinion, religious belief etc.). In order to carry out monitoring in a confidential and effective manner, the Department follows guidance from the Office of the Information Commissioner and ECNI.

- 4.23 We monitor any adverse impact on the promotion of equality of opportunity of policies it has adopted. We are also committed to monitoring more broadly to identify opportunities to better promote equality of opportunity and good relations in line with ECNI guidance.
- 4.24 The systems we have established to monitor the impact of policies and identify opportunities to better promote equality of opportunity and good relations are:
- The collection, collation and analysis of existing relevant quantitative and qualitative data across all nine equality categories on an ongoing basis.
 - An audit of existing information systems within one year of approval of this equality scheme, to identify the extent of current monitoring and take action to address any gaps in order to have the necessary information on which to base decisions.
 - Undertaking or commissioning new data if necessary.
- 4.25 If, over a two year period, monitoring and evaluation show that a policy results in greater adverse impact than predicted, or if opportunities arise which would allow for greater equality of opportunity to be promoted, we will ensure the policy is revisited to determine if better outcomes for relevant equality groups can be achieved.

Arrangements for publishing the results of our monitoring
(Schedule 9 para 4(2)(d))

- 4.26 Schedule 9 para 4(2)(d) requires Public Authorities to publish the results of the monitoring of adverse impacts of policies they have adopted. EQIA monitoring information is published as part of our Section 75 progress reports.
- 4.27 All information published is accessible and can be made available in alternative formats on request.

Chapter 5 Staff training

(Schedule 9 4.(2) (e))

Commitment to staff training

- 5.1 We recognise that awareness raising and training play a crucial role in the effective implementation of Section 75 duties.
- 5.2 The Permanent Secretary wishes to positively communicate the commitment of the Department to the Section 75 statutory duties, both internally and externally. To this end the Centre for Applied Learning (CAL) has introduced an effective communication and training programme for all staff and will ensure the commitment to the Section 75 statutory duties is made clear in all relevant publications.

Training objectives

- 5.3 We continue to provide and refine training for our staff which aims to achieve the following objectives:
- to raise awareness of the provisions of Section 75 of the Northern Ireland Act 1998, equality scheme commitments and the particular issues likely to affect people across the range of Section 75 categories, to ensure that staff⁸ fully understand their role in implementing the scheme;
 - to provide those staff involved in the assessment of policies (screening and EQIA) with the necessary skills and knowledge to do this work effectively;
 - to provide those staff who deal with complaints in relation to compliance with our equality scheme with the necessary skills and knowledge to investigate and monitor complaints effectively;
 - to provide those staff involved in consultation processes with the necessary skills and knowledge to do this work effectively; and
 - to provide those staff involved in the implementation and monitoring of the effective implementation of our equality scheme with the necessary skills and knowledge to do this work effectively.

Awareness raising and training arrangements

Awareness Raising Arrangements

- 5.4 We will provide access to copies of this equality scheme for all staff, including Departmental Board members, and ensure any queries or questions of clarification from staff are addressed effectively. In addition, we will provide briefing for staff and Board members on the scheme as soon as possible after approval from ECNI.

⁸ Each business area will have staff responsible for various strands, including screening, sign off and responding to complaints under the scheme.

Training arrangements

- 5.5 Training for the Department is provided by the Centre for Applied Learning (CAL), Enterprise Shared Services, which is the sole provider of generic training to the Northern Ireland Civil Service (NICS).

Focused training is provided for key staff within the Department who are directly engaged in taking forward the implementation of the equality scheme commitments (for example, those involved in research and data collection, policy development, service design, conducting equality impact assessments, consultation, monitoring and evaluation). The primary courses are:

- An Introduction to Section 75 – the aim of this course is to familiarise participants with the two statutory duties as outlined in Section 75 and the guidance provided by ECNI.
- Section 75 Duties - A Focus on Screening - explains how screening should be conducted, using practical examples of real policies.
- Section 75 Screening - new on-line resource from Equality Commission for Northern Ireland.

CAL however have a wide catalogue of courses, many of which prepare staff with regard to the area of equality, for example:

- Engagement and Consultation;
- Supporting Autistic People;
- Disability Awareness for Frontline Staff;
- Introduction to Human Rights;
- Recruitment and Selection – Standard and Skills/Legislation;
- Supporting Vulnerable People;
- Unconscious Bias;
- Racial Equality in the NICS;
- An Introduction to Diversity and Inclusion in the NICS (due to launch 2023); and
- Equality and Diversity Essentials (due to launch 2023)

In addition to this generic offering, CAL will work with departments/business areas within the NICS, inclusive of this Department, to contextualise any aspect of equality training.

Where appropriate, training will be provided to ensure staff are aware of the issues experienced by the range of Section 75 groups. CAL has established excellent working relationships with both ECNI and groups representing Section 75 groups e.g. the Participation Network. This enables CAL to keep abreast of issues experienced by the range of Section 75 groups and incorporate this into the training by way of practical examples and case studies. CAL also networks with staff throughout both this Department and the NICS who are involved in policy. The experiences of these staff inform the training by providing examples of where they have engaged with Section 75 groups throughout the policy cycle. These practical examples assist in bringing the issues experienced by a range of these groups to the fore.

When appropriate and on an ongoing basis, arrangements will be made to ensure staff are kept up to date with Section 75 developments. The suite of equality training provided by CAL is kept under regular review and revised when required.

- 5.6 Training and awareness raising programmes have, where relevant, been developed in association with the appropriate Section 75 groups and our staff. In order to share resources and expertise, CAL, where possible, works closely with other bodies and agencies in the development and delivery of training. The design and delivery of CAL's equality training was developed with input from both ECNI and NICS Equality Practitioners, inclusive of this Department's practitioners. It maintains ongoing liaison with ECNI in relation to mainstreaming the Section 75 statutory duties into other generic training programmes, where appropriate. CAL trainers involved in the delivery of equality training attend external courses offered by specialist organisation in the field e.g. ECNI, Human Right Commission to build on and maintain their knowledge.

As mentioned above, CAL will work with any department/business area within the NICS, inclusive of this Department, to contextualise equality training. This involves working closely with the relevant departmental Equality Practitioners in both the design and delivery of the training. This sharing of knowledge, experience and resources both ensures that the training is effective and also assists in building training capability.

CAL's remit also includes provision of training to other publicly funded bodies such as non-departmental public bodies, which further enhances the opportunities to share resources and expertise.

Monitoring and evaluation

Evaluation

Participants attending CAL training courses are required to complete a post course evaluation questionnaire, the results of which are analysed and a summary report issued to CAL customers. The post course evaluation also informs the regular course reviews which CAL carry out and courses are revised accordingly, where appropriate. As part of the Performance Management framework, it is a requirement that line managers discuss training courses objectives with their staff – both in terms of setting these objectives before the event, and the extent to which the objectives have been met once the training has been delivered. Line managers are also responsible for ensuring that opportunities are in place to put the training into practise.

Monitoring

Annual personal performance objectives, including training needs, are discussed, agreed and monitored by departmental line managers and the staff for whom they are responsible. These objectives and needs are collated within each business area to produce organisational training plans, which also take account of the NICS corporate training priorities. CAL provides the Department with a monthly training report which enables it to monitor training provided against the organisational training plans.

The training programme is subject to the following monitoring and evaluation arrangements:

- Evaluation of the extent to which all participants in this training programme have acquired the necessary skills and knowledge to achieve each of the above objectives.
- Training activity will be reported on as part of the Section 75 progress reports.

Chapter 6 Arrangements for ensuring and assessing public access to information and services we provide

(Schedule 9 para 4(2)(f))

- 6.1 We are committed to ensuring that the information we disseminate and the services we provide are fully accessible to all parts of the community in Northern Ireland. We will keep the arrangements under review to ensure this remains the case.
- 6.2 We are aware that some groups will not have the same access to information as others. In particular:
- People with sensory, learning, communication and mobility disabilities may require printed information in other formats.
 - Members of ethnic minority groups, whose first language is not English, may have difficulties with information provided only in English.
 - Children and young people may not be able to fully access or understand information.

Access to information

- 6.3 To ensure equality of opportunity in accessing information, we will provide information in alternative formats on request, where reasonably practicable. Where the exact request cannot be met we will ensure a reasonable alternative is provided. Alternative formats may include Easy Read, Braille, audio formats (CD, mp3 or DAISY), large print or minority languages to meet the needs of those for whom English is not their first language.

We take account of guidance on liaising with representatives of young people and disability and minority ethnic organisations and take account of existing and developing good practice.

We will respond to requests for information in alternative formats in a timely manner, usually within 10 working days. Please also refer to our customer service standards at https://www.finance-ni.gov.uk/sites/default/files/publications/dfp/customer-service-standards-and-complaints-procedure_0.pdf

- 6.4 We are committed to achieving effective communication with the public. Recognising the growing range of communication channels and the differing needs and preferences of different groups, we will use of a range of channels to enable wide access to information, to mitigate the risk that some sections of the public might not enjoy equality of opportunity in accessing information provided by the Department.

Access to services

- 6.5 We are committed to ensuring all of our services are fully accessible to everyone in the community across the Section 75 categories. We also adhere to the relevant provisions of current anti-discrimination legislation.

- 6.6 Our public facing agencies, LPS and NISRA, provide access to information and services through their websites which are continually reviewed and updated to ensure appropriate access.

In addition, the Department's Digital Inclusion Strategy reduces barriers to citizen access to on line public services. These digital inclusion activities will provide improved access to services (government and other) for those groups currently less able to avail of them via the web channel. All citizen facing information is available online via the NIDirect Website. This site conforms to the UK government guidelines for websites and it is accessible and easy to use. The site's layout takes into account users who are blind or visually impaired (text size can be altered at the touch of a button). It is fully compatible with popular screen reading software and for those with difficulties using a mouse the site can be navigated using only a keyboard.

Assessing public access to information and services

- 6.7 The Department monitors, at least biennially, across all its functions in relation to access to information and services to ensure equality of opportunity and good relations are promoted.
- 6.8 Accessibility of our information and services is reviewed through customer and staff surveys, feedback from customers and stakeholders and the resolution of complaints brought to our attention.

Chapter 7 Timetable for measures we propose in this equality scheme

(Schedule 9 para 4(3)(b))

- 7.1 Appendix 4 outlines our timetable for all measures proposed within this equality scheme. The measures outlined in this timetable will be incorporated into our business planning processes.
- 7.2 The timetable is different from, and in addition to, our commitment to developing action plans/action measures to specifically address inequalities and further promote equality of opportunity and good relations. We have included in this equality scheme a commitment to develop an action plan. Accordingly, this commitment is not listed in the timetable of measures at Appendix 4. For information on these action measures, please see the relevant paragraphs in Chapter 2 above

The review will evaluate the effectiveness of our scheme in relation to the implementation of the Section 75 statutory duties relevant to its functions in Northern Ireland.

Appendix 5 Glossary of terms

Action Plan

This is the document which sets out actions which the Department will take to address identified inequalities, or to improve equality of opportunity.

Adverse Impact

Where a Section 75 category has been affected differently by a policy and the effect is less favourable, i.e. adverse. If a policy has an adverse impact on a Section 75 category a public authority must consider whether or not the adverse impact is unlawfully discriminatory. In either case a public authority must take measures to redress the adverse impact, by considering mitigating measures and/or alternative ways of delivering the policy.

Audit of Inequalities

A thorough analysis of the work of the Department to determine which areas impact upon equality and good relations and to scrutinise those areas where improvement could be made. This audit formed the basis for the Action Plan.

Consultation

In the context of Section 75, consultation is the process of asking those affected by a policy (i.e. service users, staff, the general public) for their views on how the policy could be implemented more effectively to ensure equality of opportunity across the 9 groups. Different circumstances will call for different types of consultation. Consultations could, for example, include meetings, focus groups, surveys and questionnaires.

Differential Impact

Differential impact occurs where a Section 75 group has been affected differently by a policy. This effect could either be positive, neutral or negative.

A public authority must make a judgement as to whether a policy has a differential impact and then it must determine whether the impact is adverse, based on a systematic appraisal of the accumulated information.

Equality Impact Assessment

The mechanism underpinning Section 75, where existing and proposed policies are assessed in order to determine whether they have an adverse impact on equality of opportunity for the relevant groups. EQIAs require the analysis of both quantitative and qualitative data.

Equality of Opportunity

The prevention, elimination or regulation of discrimination between people on grounds of characteristics including sex, marital status, age, disability, religious belief, political opinion, dependants, race and sexual orientation.

The promotion of equality of opportunity entails more than the elimination of discrimination. It requires proactive measures to be taken to secure equality of opportunity between the categories identified under Section 75.

Equality Scheme

A document which outlines a public authority's arrangements for complying with its Section 75 obligations. An equality scheme must include an outline of the public authority's arrangements for carrying out consultations, screening, equality impact assessments, monitoring, training and arrangements for ensuring access to information and services.

Good Relations

Good relations can be said to exist where there is:

- a high level of dignity, respect and mutual understanding;
- an absence of prejudice, hatred, hostility or harassment;
- a fair level of participation in society. Good relations means, in particular, having regard to the desirability of: a) tackling prejudice, and b) promoting understanding.

Mainstreaming Equality

The integration of equality of opportunity principles, strategies and practices into the everyday work of public authorities from the outset. In other words, mainstreaming is the process of ensuring that equality considerations are built into the policy development process from the beginning, rather than being bolted on at the end. Mainstreaming can help improve methods of working by increasing a public authority's accountability, responsiveness to need and relations with the public. It can bring added value at many levels.

Mitigation of Adverse Impact

Where an equality impact assessment reveals that a particular policy has an adverse impact on equality of opportunity, a public authority must consider ways of delivering the policy outcomes which have a less adverse effect on the relevant groups; this is known as mitigating adverse impact.

Monitoring

Monitoring consists of continuously scrutinising and evaluating a policy to assess its impact on the Section 75 categories. Monitoring must be sensitive to the issues associated with human rights and privacy. Public authorities should seek advice from consultees and Section 75 representative groups when setting up monitoring systems.

Monitoring consists of the collection of relevant information and evaluation of policies. It is not solely about the collection of data, it can also take the form of regular meetings and reporting of research undertaken. Monitoring is not an end in itself but provides the data for the next cycle of policy screening.

Northern Ireland Act

The Northern Ireland Act, implementing the Good Friday Agreement, received Royal Assent on 19 November 1998. Section 75 of the Act created the statutory equality duties.

Policy

The formal and informal decisions a public authority makes in relation to carrying out its duties. Defined in the New Oxford English Dictionary as 'a course or principle of action adopted or proposed by a government party, business or individual'. In the context of Section 75 the term policies covers all the ways in which a public authority carries out or proposes to carry out its functions relating to Northern Ireland. Policies include unwritten as well as written policies.

Qualitative Data

Qualitative data refers to the experiences of individuals from their perspective, most often with less emphasis on numbers or statistical analysis.

Consultations are more likely to yield qualitative than quantitative data.

Quantitative Data

Quantitative data refers to numbers, typically derived from either a population in general or samples of that population. This information is often analysed by either using descriptive statistics, which consider general profiles, distributions and trends in the data, or inferential statistics, which are used to determine 'significance' either in relationships or differences in the data.
